

Profile for the Convenor of the working group CEN/TC 325/WG 3

General information about CEN working groups

The European standardization committee (CEN) uses working groups (WG) to prepare proposals for European standards or technical specifications. These groups usually are made up from 10-20 experts from different countries in the EU. They meet two times a year in different cities of Europa for 1-2 days and use web conferences.

The work of working groups is coordinated and monitored by a technical committee (TC). Proposals prepared by working groups undergo balloting and commenting on the TC level.

Such groups discuss the content of their proposals and elaborate drafts. They are moderated by a group leader (convenor) and his assistant (secretary).

Competencies of a Convenor

- Experience in the security field
- Good English skills (speaking, reading).
- Skills as moderator and mediator (social competence, consensus-building).

Field of work of the working group CEN/TC 325/WG 3

Developing European security standards for the prevention of crime by means of building and facility design. These standards usually contain:

- Analysis of crime in the surrounding: risks and threats analysis, evaluation and assessment.
- Situational crime prevention: risk treatment by natural and technical means.
- Design guidance: building and facility design to support crime prevention.

For the following applications detailed standards were made dwellings (residential buildings), shops and offices.

The guidance provided shall not cover guidance for security product for building products and security systems components, which are under the responsibility of other committees in CEN.

Actual project

Prevention of crime - Urban planning and building design - Part 6: Schools

Benefits

- Contacts and exchange with experts in this field.
- Platform for cooperation in scientific projects (FPA, Horizon 2020 etc.).
- You can carry the title "Convenor of CEN/TC 325/WG 1 Building design" in the public.
- The standards prepared by your working group are acknowledged as international publications.

Support given by ÚNMZ

- The WG secretary (assistant provided by ÚNMZ) will support you widely in your function.
- He will prepare invitations, meetings and reports, editorial work on working drafts and manage the documents. He will give you advice regarding the CEN rules
- Refund of 30 or 60 % of the travel expenses.

Ing. Stefan Krebs, krebs@unmz.cz, mobil 727 825 546